(b) Seventy one low power/very low power transmitters were commissioned into service during the first three years of the Seventh Plan, i.e., from April, 1985 to March, 1988.

(c) There have been minor slippages in some projects, mainly caused by non-availability of equipment in time. These have since made up in most cases.

(d) There are standing arrangements for close monitoring of the implementation of various projects so as to ensure that areas of slippage, if any, are removed to the extent possible. The Government is confident that all the low power TV transmitters envisaged to be set up under the VII Plan would be commissioned into service before the expiry of the VII Plan period.
